

Update

We have changed the company who is making the smartphone app for this research study. We will be using the ADK Group as the vendor for this app (<http://adkgroup.com/>). The ADK Group will custom-develop the app to our specifications. The rationale for this change is that, since submission of our protocol, the original smartphone app company experienced a shift in priorities, away from research studies involving rheumatoid arthritis patients. To accommodate this change in vendor, we extended our timeline by three months.
